

Product Specialist for Storage Platform

You will be part of a highly skilled team developing and supporting a data storage platform. This software platform provides unique features for distributed storage of huge data volumes on standard hardware. Your work will be focused on testing, benchmarking and technical support. You will be responsible for tasks such as setting up test environments, evaluating competitive solutions and gathering feature requirements. We believe that you are well organized and have a true interest in the latest technologies and are open and service minded. A background from providing technical support and troubleshooting can be very suitable for this position.

Requirements:

- 2+ years relevant working experience
- Good knowledge in network administration in Linux and Windows environments
- University level studies in computer science or similar
- Good English skills verbally and in writing

Considered as an advantage:

- Experience in VMware, Citrix, Xen, OpenStack and/or KVM
- Experience in SAN and/or NAS solutions

You will be based in the beautiful naval town of Karlskrona in the south east corner of Sweden.

For the right candidate, we are pleased to offer a competitive compensation and benefits package.

If you find our proposal interesting and you meet the above requirements for the position, please send your CV and cover letter in English.

All applications will be treated strictly confidential.

About Comstream:

Comstream is a privately held company group with about 40 employees and offices in Sweden, Finland and Bulgaria. Over the last years we have experienced a strong growth and we are now expanding our business further. We are focusing on the latest technologies and our skilled staff is developing leading products in a number of different areas including web development, on-line games, mobile applications, embedded systems and infrastructure solutions.

If you want to become member of an international organization with a Scandinavian-influenced business culture, Comstream is the place for you. For us it is important that you can grow in your professional role and with us you are in the right environment for this. We work in small teams where everyone plays important roles and our values are based upon involvement and freedom.

Please visit our corporate website www.comstream.se for further information about us.