IPSOS

Your responsibilities:

• Edits, submits and writes computer programs and scripts based on clients' requests for market research surveys;
• Follows existing practices of questionnaire programming as well as suggests, creates and tests complex surveys with an emphasis on data logic and quality;
• Deals with client's sample;
• Uses specific software for survey programming in combination with web technologies (such as JavaScript/HTML/ CSS) to create scripts and templates necessary for programming;
• Communicates with international clients;

How the successful applicant looks like?:
Has very good knowledge of spoken and written English.....
....has educational background in computer science, programming, informatics or related field....
....also has experience in web programming (HTML, CSS, JavaScript, VBScript).....
... analytical skills and attention to details

Previous experience/knowledge in Data Processing, survey programming or in Market research area is a plus.

What do we offer in return?

• Training on new scripting Languages and Technologies (IBM Dimensions Technology)
• Attractive social package along with competitive salary
• Stimulating international work environment in one of the leading market research companies.

If you believe you possess the required skills and would like to be part of an organization facing exciting opportunities, please send your CV to HR.Bulgaria@ipsos.com